

Ngoonjook: A Journal of Australian Indigenous Issues

Editors:
Jaqueline Ottmann
Nereda White
Lyn Fasoli

© Batchelor Press 2010

Copyright of individual papers and artworks remains with the authors and artists. Copyright of the publication remains with Batchelor Press. Enquiries about permitted reproduction of any part of this publication must be directed to Batchelor Press at Batchelor Institute, and the relevant author/artist.

Cover artwork:
'Bark Petition' by Reg Wuridjal and Patrick Brown
Desktop publishing: Brooke Ottley and Marissa Clausen

The views expressed in Ngoonjook are not necessarily those of the editor, editorial committee or Batchelor Institute.

ISSN: 1039-8236

This special edition of Ngoonjook (34) has been peer reviewed and reports on a three-year, international participatory action research study: An Institutional Leadership Paradigm: transforming practices, structures and conditions in Indigenous higher education.

Submissions

The Ngoonjook committee welcomes submissions from staff and students of Batchelor Institute, as well as external writers and academics. Academic papers, reflections and book reviews are accepted. Poetry and creative writing may also be accepted.

Guidelines are available from Batchelor Press. Papers that do not follow the guidelines cannot be accepted. The editorial committee selects papers for publication, in consultation with the editor (or guest editor).

Authors must demonstrate copyright, privacy and permission clearance for all material in their papers. Copyright of an individual paper or artwork rests with the author or artist who created the work.

Papers must be no longer than 3,500 words, unless negotiated with the editor. Accessible English is preferred, as the journal has a wide readership. Papers must be accompanied by an author's biography of no more than 60 words.

There is no payment for contributions, but each contributor receives a complimentary copy of the edition in which her/his paper is published. The journal is not sold for profit.

Submit papers to:

Ngoonjook Editorial Committee
Batchelor Institute of Indigenous Tertiary Education
c/- Post Office
Batchelor NT 0845

For queries, contact:

Batchelor Press,
Batchelor Institute of Indigenous Tertiary Education
Tel: (08) 8939 7352
Fax: (08) 8939 7354
Email: batchelorpress@batchelor.edu.au
Web: www.batchelorpress.com